Description in past, present and future

In the past people used to eat more vegetables and traditional food like mole, caldos and tamales of exotic animals, they had a lot of terrain to plant. The meat was more natural because the animals didn't eat chemicals. Today the people use a lot of chemicals in animals and food for a better appearance. Now a days some scientist are trying to do meat from the vegetables, maybe traditional food will change if people decide use that. My grandparents used to wear "calzones de manta", that was cheap and natural clothes, now we use clothes from other continents with different styles and colors, in the future people will use strange and funny clothes. My parents in the past used to build their own toys of wood, now people play with video games, in the future kids will play on 3D glasses.
